

Celebration!

„in all civilisations where there is the practice of sobriety or frugality , there is always a period of celebration from time to time, frugality must be compensated for with celebration , other wise it is austerity and it becomes unbearable for humans“ (Edgar Morin)

The climate challenges affecting our environment cannot be tackled on an individual scale, but on a collective one, which is why it's time to come together! Since the pandemic, we've found it hard to come together, we've fallen into the comfort of our own interest and routine. The GAL Celebration is an invitation to step out of comfort, to have the courage to face the challenges around us together.

We'd like to give our spatial discipline back its societal relevance by sharing with courageous designers, activist, thinkers of our disciplines .

The topics will be serious; resources, uncertainties, ecology, social justice ... but the discussion will be festive !

Please send us your suggestions of people to invite to lecture at this event.
